4 FEDERAL ATTORNEYS MUST GO

Six Have Quit Since July, Says Stone, Regarding the Dry Law Enforcement

Washington, Oct. 27.—Four United States district attorneys have been asked to resign and six others have resigned since last July, as a result in most instances of failure to enforce the prohibition laws, Attorney General Stone said today in reference to charge of lax prohibition enforcement.

The statement was made by Mr. Stone in amplification of the letter of Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, Assistant Attorney General, in which she said at least ten district attorneys were indifferent towards prohibition enforcement.

Thiesterer was written last July, he said, and said that time steps had been taken to disprove with the services of ten district attorneys. He did not name them.

United States District Attorney Robert O. Harris of the Boston district, last July, was summoned to Washington by the Department of Justice, to discuss matters in connection with his office.

At that time many rumors were abroad and it reported that there was a difference of opinion between the local Federal prosecutor and the "big boss" in Washington.

The "business" of the July conference was declared to be in connection with liquor and liquor cases.

FALLING WINDOW PINS
WOMAN BY HANDS

Brooklyn, Oct. 27.—While washing windows at her home, No. 92 Wyman street, Mrs. Mary Nardell was trapped when a top window fell, wedging her hands between two sashes. Screams attracted neighbors, who called in the police. The woman was on the second floor and all doors were locked leading into her apartment. Ladder No. 1 of the fire department was called and she was released.

Wonder Dog of Hub Outclasses Stars of Movie Canines

Rin-Tin-Tin, famous police dog movie hero, is as well-witted as a sheep compared to King, a dog of the same breed, according to E. R. Bohmer, new chief of the Boston Division of the Department of Justice.

Mr. Bohmer is the owner of King, and therefore may be suspected of bias, but he let the dog's actions speak for themselves.

Before a group of reporters King performed feats of skill which showed him to be a dog of a mentality equal to that of a child.

Mr. Bohmer did not involve King in the middle of the performance when told, and started off on a new tack, and after finishing them, picked up the old job where he had left it down.

At the conclusion of the performance he took a bow, winked solemnly at his master, and wagged his tail.

3 OVERPOWERED JAIL GUARD, ESCAPE

Burlington, Vt., Oct. 27.—Three prisoners broke away from Chittenden county jail here early today, after having overpowered the guard at the door, placed him in a cell and locked him up with his own keys.

The three who escaped were Edward St. Aubin of Montreal, held for violation of the Immigration Act and Charles Kellogg, who is held for looting a store in New York State on a charge of forcing money orders, and a Charles Kellogg, who is held for looting a store in New York State on a charge of forcing money orders, and a Charles Kellogg, who is held for looting a store in New York State on a charge of forcing money orders.

LOCAL TAX FIGURES MISLAID

Amounts Paid by Prominent Men Not Available, the Income Bureau Reports

Pretty red tape fluttered deliriously once again today in the office of Malcolm E. Nichols, local internal revenue collector, and many accounts—those of very prominent persons, strangely enough, were mislaid, blocking the hunt by reporters for income tax figures.

Such figures, for instance, as those of Albert C. Burgess, a wealthy citizen, were "not available." Other accounts bearing the sign of the downward thumb included those of George Holden Tankham, congressman; James J. Phelan, banker; the late Mrs. John L. Gardner, and A. C. Hatchcock.

Still others were Simon Switz, District Attorney O'Brien, Lyman W. Griswold, man of wealth; Mrs. Lora Alden, Mrs. Glendower Evans, Frederick H. Price, Louis H. Kipstein, Daniel H. Cook, Bishop Edwin H. Hughes, Margaret Deland, Edwin R. Webster, Eugene N. Foss, Mark Temple Dawling, and many others.

More than an hour of toil unearthed one name and tax return today—that of Isadore Braghtoff, father of the dancing Braghtoff sisters, and himself a singing teacher. He paid a tax of only $121.15.

This record disclosed today that the A. P. of L. said today: "I am in favor of publishing the names of income taxpayers and the amounts paid."

"As a labor man I feel that as long as I am always anxious to know what labor is doing, so labor has a right to know what capital is doing."

The Rev. J. C. Stasew, pastor of Tremont Temple, said: "The income tax figures should not be published. I believe that it is an unwise exposure that they must be kept secret."

New Comet Dashing Through Space Near Earth

London, Oct. 27.—A telegram from Copenhagen to the royal observatory at Greenwich says Mr. Haude, German astronomer, has discovered an object of the tenth magnitude and planetary in aspect, moving so rapidly that he suggests it is a comet.

Should this be true, the discovery would be of the greatest interest, because of the proximity of the object's orbit to the earth.

Its position at 7 o'clock tonight is given as right ascension 21 hours 45 minutes, north declination 12 degrees 30 minutes. It is not far from the star Epsilon, in the constellation Pegasus, which constellation can be seen any evening at 7 o'clock near the zenith.

COOLIDGE WINS IN 29TH DAY STRAW POLL

The total number of votes cast in the twenty-ninth day of the New England was 717. Nearly all of them went to Coolidge, the result being:

Coolidge, 553; La Follette, 26; Davis, 18.
The West End vote was cast on Green and Leverett streets, near the vote of the shopkeepers, mainly to the President and the average voter's choice showed a leaning towards the Third Party.

The vote designated as "Daisy Street Station," in today's poll was picked up at that important cross-roads, where the "D" sign at Sullivan square and at the street entrance to the subway.

Coolidge, 173; La Follette, 41; Davis, 41.

PROVIDENCE WIFE, NOT LIVING WITH HUSBAND, ATTACKED IN NORTH END

Mrs. Margaret Davis Mendez, 29 years old, lodging house keeper, formerly of Providence, was shot and probably fatally wounded in her new home at No. 414 Commercial street today.

She told the police the shooting was done by Joseph Morera, 25 years old, of No. 22 Arnold street, Providence, because of her refusal to return to Providence and marry him.

Although wounded in the abdomen and the back of the head, the woman fought a strenuous battle with her assailant, eventually managing to escape.

When taken to the Royal Hospital she refused to lie down in the ambulance and, instead, on walking into the institution.

Tattooed on her left arm was an American flag, the words "America" and the initials of a former sweetheart.

Mrs. Mendez, who is known as Mrs. Davis, told the police she formerly conducted a home at No. 28 Arnold street, Providence, where Morera was one of her lodgers. She said the house and came to Boston with a ten-year-old son, last Thursday.

She said she intended to start a lodging house at the Commercial street address.

MRS. "DANNY" CASWELL. Former June Castleton of the Folies is refused permission to see her husband since he has been stricken so ill that his recovery is in doubt. Caswell, known as one of Broadway's most notorious speed-thrills, wooed the girl when she was living in the Black Bay.

'DAPPER DANNY' IS WRECK OF FORMER SELF

"Dapper Dan" Caswell is paying the price. The Cleveland boy Croesus, who gained a reputation as the most prodigal spender along Broadway and in Boston, is confined in a sanitarium near New York. His once powerful physique is wrecked—his recovery is a matter of doubt.

So serious is the condition of the young, dissolved heir to Cleveland millions that his wife, the former June Castleton of Boston and the Folies chorus, is kept from his bed side.

Shocked by the drastic rate cut put into effect by the Premier and Checker Taxi companies, officials of the Fenway, Town, Yellow and other companies buzzed excitedly today with their heads together over the situation.

One of the individual company councils and a brief conference expected to be held tonight, will come, it is believed, a further and retaliatory cut that will give the Hub the lowest taxi fares in the country.

War is on and the taxi operators make no secret of it. Officials of the Fenway, Town and Yellow companies admit that the Premier and Checker slashes were a disgraceful curative and that they were caught off their guard.

Under the new rates announced by the Checker, five persons may now travel a mile for the same distance as the old rates. The old rates will have extra charges for additional passengers who have been eighty cents for the first mile for a party of five. A minimum charge of twenty cents is fixed under the new rates.

These new rates announced by the Premier, which operates fifty-seven cabs in and about Boston provide for a rate of thirty cents for the first mile and twenty cents for each additional mile thereafter, regardless of the number of passengers carried.

The old rate of this company was forty cents for the first mile and thirty cents for each additional mile. It is reported that the Premier cut came as the result of drivers agreeing to take a wage reduction of $1 a day for nine hours—was denied by the Premier company today. No such agreement has been reached and the union scale of $4 a day for nine hours, with 55 cents an hour for overtime, will prevail.

National Security League
Head Calls Soviet Propagandist a Menace

In the Countess Catherine Karolyi of Hungary, now in New York, a menace to this country?

This question is agitating Boston women who had arranged for the Countess to address several organizations in the Hub.

"Red Catherine" is the manner in which S. Stanwood Menken, president of the National Security League, refers to the Countess, and Mr. Menken has his way, the visitor will not come to Boston. He seeks her deportation as a menace to the peace and security of this country.

The Countess was permitted to hold at New York today from the Mrs. George Washington.

"It's a lie," she smilingly said of Menken's charge. "I'm a Socialist, but never have I been active in politics."

She was a tuncben guest of New York society leaders today in the Metropolitan Club.

CALLED "SOVIET" BRAINS.
The Countess is the wife of the Hungarian nobleman who was exiled as the first president of the Hungarian republic and who was succeeded as ruler of that country by Bela Kun, the Communist.

The Countess was actively identified in Europe with the Soviet regime in Moscow and he was forced to leave Hungary several years ago for his Red activities.

The Countess, however, was regarded in many quarters as a real brain of the Communist activities in her own country. When her trip to the United States was planned, entertainment on an elaborate scale was arranged in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and other cities.

NOTABLE WOMEN HOSTESSES.
Women who have long been active in club circles were named as hostesses for the luncheon and other affairs arranged in honor of the visitor.

The National Security League, learning of the proposed activities of the Hungarian noblewoman, started an active campaign against her visit. Members of the "American Reception Committee to Countess Karolyi" have been sent letters by the league.

A copy of the letters follows: "Will you kindly advise whether you are, as stated in the Boston Herald, a radical newspaper, one of the hostesses at the proposed luncheon to Countess Karolyi, known as 'Red Catherine' and who was an associate of Bela Kun, whose office, according to the Italian police, is the establishment of Communist agents in this country. I expect to trouble you; but her toleration in America is a serious menace at this time."

S. STANWOOD MENKEN, "President of the National Security League."

One woman, whose name appears on the list of hostesses, has refused to serve. She is Mrs. Elton Huntington Hooker, wife of the president of the National Defense Society.

TAXI DRIVERS FORCED TO BID FOR FARES

TAXI FIRMS IN GILPATRIC TO ADMIT MORE THEFTS

New Haven, Ct., Oct. 27.—G. Harold Gilpatrick, former State treasurer and former cashier of the First National Bank of Putnam, who is charged with guilty to twenty-four counts in an indictment charging misuse of bank funds, may need guilty to additional charges on Thursday his counsel, William A. King, said.

The indictment read to Gilpatrick three weeks ago had thirty-nine counts and Mr. King asked for delay until he defense could examine the bank's books then in the hands of a receiver. This delay was granted.

Gilpatrick, who had tried to kill himself by shooting, was in court with his eyes bandaged, being told by his increasing physical strength he could aid in his own defense.

Mr. King, in a statement, says that the heavy strain has affected Gilpatrick's mind and he gives a coherent reply to questions about his use of bank funds and assets. Mr. King said the federal receiver, since the court hearing has been delayed, has examined the books, but the accounts are "very complicated" and it is impossible as yet to say as to the additional counts to which Gilpatrick may plead guilty.

"The whole matter is very distressful to my client and to his family," said Mr. King. "Their only wish now is to have it settled as soon as possible. I have no intention of dragging it out any longer than necessary. I expect to have it settled Thursday."

NET INCOME OF ELEVATED DECLINES

A loss of $768,699.94 in the net income of the Boston Elevated Railway for the nine months ending Sept. 30 is disclosed in a report filed by the trustees today with the State Department of Public Utilities.

This, despite the fact that the road carried 235,244,326 passengers, or 4,556,662 more than were carried during the corresponding nine months of the previous year.

The operating income for 1924 up to the end of September was $5,115,727.77. In 1923 it was $5,765,727.60. The operating income this year therefore shows a decrease of $649,999.83. A decrease of $20,570.07 is shown in the non operating income.

The gross income was $5,212,357.94 on an average of $5,832,352.84 for 1923, a decrease of $620,000.90. Deductions from gross income were $5,989,457.78 this year as against $5,679,497.47 a year ago. The increase in fixed charges amounting to $305,459.31.

For the nine months' period ending 1923 a profit was shown in net income of $205,925.27. This sum, added to the deficit of $768,699.94 in net income for 1924, shows a net deficit of $562,774.67.

LATE AT COURT, PATROLMAN ON TRIAL

Connolly Blames Traffic Jam at Post for Delay of Half-Hour

After nearly a year of judicial warnings, possession of policemen for being late in court has started.

The first officer to appear before a trial board on this charge was James P. Connolly, attached to traffic headquarters. In a complaint signed by Sergeant Thomas O'Donnell, court instructor for police officers, Connolly was alleged to have been half an hour late to sign a complaint. His defense was a traffic jam at his post.

Police tardiness has come to be a serious matter, according to the judges, who say that defendants are frequently forced to wait in court from fifteen minutes to two hours.

Patrolman Leonard J. O'Donnell of Division 11 was charged with failing to register a duty roll and with not appearing for traffic duty at St. Andrew's church, O'Donnell maintained he pulled the box, but it failed to register. He said he forgot the traffic duty. The witnesses in both cases was heard by a trial board, and then submitted to the Commissioner, who will recommend a fine.

WOMEN WHO KILLED U. S. SAILOR IS FREED

Patricia J. McGuire, who shot and killed Lester T. Pollock, on the shore of his home, No. 69 Bowdoin House boulevard, Somerville, was freed today after a jury found her not guilty. Judge Stuart found no probable cause to hold McGuire, a World War veteran.

"Whether McGuire's good judgment is not for us to say," Judge Stuart declared. "He is charged with manslaughter."

He said there was evidence that Pollock, a woman on the U. S. S. Utah, was attempting to enter McGuire's home last Tuesday morning when the shooting occurred.

Referring to the shooting, the judge said:

"In these days, when there is so much breaking and entering, it is hard to say what a man should do or should not do. I find no cause and order McGuire discharged."

Mrs. Mary P. Flah, McGuire's sister-in-law, testified she had never seen Pollock before, nor had any other member of the family. She said of being awakened at a million at the door, and of accusing her sister and brother-in-law. She said when McGuire opened the door the man outside turned in.

McGuire testified she intended to kill Pollock on the head with the butt end of the weapon, but in the heat of the moment she fired, and the weapon was discharged.

PARDON IS ASKED FOR MAINE SLAYER

Alfred M. Day, 37.—The Governor and Council have received a petition for the pardon of George Thompson, convicted of murdering a woman at Thomaston for murder. He was convicted in York County Superior Court in 1911 of killing Edie Horn. The crime was committed in New York where four persons, a father, mother and their two grown sons, were killed and the buildings burned. Thompson was employed at a farm and was immediately suspected by officials. He had had reason to suppose a large sum of money was kept in the house. He was arrested a few days later in Milford, Mass.

WEYMOUTH MUSICIAN DROWNS IN BACK RIVER

Weymouth, Oct. 27.—The body of a well-known musician, of No. 118 High street, was found in the Weymouth Back River by his son, Albert C. Burrell, thirty-five years of age, who was fishing in the river. Burrell had left Saturday afternoon on a fishing trip. When Burrell did not return home this morning, his son went in search of him. He found the body in place, with his father's street clothes, money, and watch neatly placed together. Burrell, who had done his fishing clothes. The son pulled up the anchor and recovered his father's body, which was entangled in the line.

Commander Lansdowne, who piloted the airship on the cross-country test, said that the continental cruise proved that it is unnecessary to spend large sums for hangars.

NEWS OF BIG AND LITTLE POLITICIANS

Democrats and Republicans Prepare for Strenuous Closing Week of Campaign

Charles G. Dawes, Republican candidate for Vice-President, is on a swing through upper New York State today.

John W. Davis was resting at his home in Locust Valley over the weekend, and today drafted his final political speech of the campaign for Saturday night delivery. He speaks at Jersey City tonight.

The Dawes reparation plan was scored as a "product of starvation wages and cheap goods in Germany" at a rally held in the interests of La Follette and Wheeler at Arletter Hall, Roxbury.

The Max Baer-Garibaldi Republican Club staged a well-attended rally in Armory Hall, Maverick and Beacon streets, East Boston.

Clem Shaver, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, claims that the last week left to his candidate will sweep him into the White House. He declares that history shows the dominant political party being eliminated by a third party and predicts that La Follette will draw more from the Grand Old Party.

More than 100,000 rallies are planned by the Republican State Committee this week. Lieutenant-Governor Fuller will speak at Lowell, Haverhill, Fall River and New Bedford. Twenty-five thousand are expected in the torchlight parade in Boston Thursday night.

Usually fervid are the plans of the Democratic State Committee for the week. The whole state will be covered with 100 or more rallies. Mayor Fitzgerald and a band of noted Democratic leaders will cover Greater Boston thoroughly. The windup is at the Boston arena on Saturday night while the Republicans are climaxed their campaign at Tremont Temple.

Alton, Ill., Oct. 27.—Senator Robert M. La Follette, independent presidential candidate, resting here over the weekend, decided in a statement that he entered the final week of the campaign "confident of victory at the polls."

He intends to remain here until late today before proceeding to Baltimore, where he speaks. He is scheduled to deliver an address in Brooklyn, N. Y., Tuesday night, Schenectady, N. Y., Wednesday night, Boston, Thursday night, and in Pittsburgh Friday night.

Senator La Follette will wind up his campaign Saturday night in Cleveland.

New York, Oct. 27.—Telegraphing from Terre Haute, Charles W. Bryan, Democratic nominee for Vice-President, today informed Clem L. Shaver, Democratic National Committee chairman, that John W. Davis either would be selected November 4 or the election would be thrown into the House.

A public session specially for the discussion of the several referendum questions to be voted on at the coming election, will be held tonight at the Community House of St. Andrews Church, Forest Hills.

Among the speakers will be Mrs. E. E. Slattery, Joseph P. Parks of the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America, chairman of the Women's State Democratic committee, John J. Fitzgerald, chairman of the Boston Democratic city committee, Chairman Rogers of the Street Commission, George P. Cullen of the Governor's Council, and Joseph E. White, candidate for Representative in the Ward 22 and 23 district. Mrs. William P. McCully will preside.

Portland, Me., Oct. 27.—Senator Frederick Hale, chairman of the Senate Committee on Naval Affairs for New York State, where he will speak in behalf of the candidacy for Governor of Theodore Roosevelt, ex-assistant Secretary of the Navy.

Chicago, Oct. 27 (AP).—Colored Harry M. Nider, former commander of the American Legion, and now national chairman of the Republican Service League, conducting campaign activities for the Republican National Committee among war veterans, made public a letter from President Coolidge to the service men and women of America, appealing for the united support of the "current attacks upon the fundamentals of our institutions."

Appeal to you was in the past have proved worthy of all reliance to stand united and unyielding against this menace to our institutions," the President's letter said in calling for the approval of the La Follette independent group to limit the powers of the Supreme Court.

GIRL DROPS HER RING; ROMANCE REVEALED

MRS. G. W. MacNAUGHT
She was Miss Bernice Eldridge of Winthrop. Her marriage early in the summer has just been revealed.

If Miss Bernice Eldridge of No. 3 Atlantic street, Winthrop, had worn her wedding ring on a string about her neck instead of carrying it in her purse her secret marriage to George Winthrop MacNaught, also of Winthrop, would still be a secret. When the ring rolled from the purse to the floor and was seen by a friend the secret was out. The couple were married in Newbrook, N. H., early in the summer.

MARCH IS STAGED BY KLUXERS

Don Their Regalia as They Enter the Universalist Edifice and Are Welcomed

Half a hundred members of the Ku Klux Klan furnished regular worshippers at the Medford Hills Universalist Church on Boston avenue. A bizarre demonstration when they attended services in a body and staged a march about the church auditorium under the glow of half dimmed red electric lights.

The Klansmen drove to the church in automobiles bearing decorations and in Medford and surrounding towns. The members of the hooded order carried their robes in their parcels as they entered the church.

STAGE DEMONSTRATION

While members of the congregation were apparently taken by surprise, the pastor of the church, the Rev. Clark, immediately anticipated the coming of the Klansmen. He invited the order to the church and asked them to remain.

As they entered, the members of the order, dressed in their robes, were welcomed by the pastor. The Klansmen then staged a march about the church auditorium under the glow of half dimmed red electric lights.

CHANGE MADE IN SPEED BOAT RULES

NEW YORK, Oct. 27—A meeting of the New York Yacht Club and members of the Rules Committee of the Yachtsmen's Association of America was held at the Hotel Commodore last night to consider differing changes in the rules governing the 150-mile speed-hoop races, to be held next August at the New York Yacht Club. The proposal was first introduced and accepted by the Executive Committee to govern the 1925 race, but at yesterday's meeting it was decided to rescind this action. Next on the agenda was the proposal to therefore under the rules as framed to govern the 1924 race. The proposal was rejected by the association because it was deemed less feasible to the competition two New York yachts under construction, and the proposed new rules as accepted last January, but which were not yet adopted.

The annual meeting of the American Power Boat Association will be held at the Hotel Commodore. There will be an election of officers for the ensuing year. The committee on the 150-mile race (Capt and Honors E. Dodge, trophy winner last year) will be in charge of local water next August. Possible changes in speed-hoop racing rules will be discussed.

SCHOLASTIC LEAGUE SITUATION IN GREAT TANGLE THIS YEAR

SOME OF RINDGE'S HUSKY GRIDIRON STARS

SUBURBAN DOUBLE WORST

By FRED C. LANE
The scholastic football situation is certainly complicated for this time of the year. Usually one, or possibly two, teams in the league schools have shown sufficient qualifications at the halfway mark to warrant them a title of runner-up position.

The situation in League power is most mixed up. As yet, no team has been crowned champion. The situation is so mixed up that it is difficult to see how the season will close.

PHOENIX SEEMS BEST.
The Phoenix team, which has been the favorite of the fans, has been the only team to win all its games. It has a record of 10 wins and 0 losses.

There is no team in the league which has been able to win all its games. The Phoenix team is the only one to have done so.

The Good M. Pierre

Never a Whimper in Defeat, Epinal's Owner Sets Whole World a Fine Example.

HAVING heard the recorded voice of David Windsor, ordinarily the Prince of Wales, in an able exploitation of sportsmanship, one is moved to a suggestion to the genial young man that he may find the prince of sportsmen among his nation's great ally, the Republic of France.

To mind comes the name of Epinal's owner, the good M. Pierre Wertheimer, a sportsman and good fellow to the core. And it gives one a sense of keen pleasure to say a tardy but appreciative word or two about him.

Never a whimper in the face of three gallant defeats for his horse in this country, never a word of criticism, but only the most gracious praise for American institutions and especially for the spirit of fairness and good will of turnmen here, the good M. Pierre smiles his way through. He may even "try it again," as he expresses it.

One must be mindful of the fact that he came to this country with his mighty horse merely for the purpose of showing Americans the best European racing machine.

It was indeed a display of good sportsmanship and admirably backed up by his cheerful demeanor in and after defeat.

He could have found many excuses. If he had any he elected not to air them.

Great man indeed is the good M. Pierre Wertheimer.

START THE STORY HERE TODAY

Margaret Meadows married Will Lee at seventeen. His dissolute habits soon made her miserable. The night he severed his hand to his two-year-old child in a drunken rage she slipped from his home with her baby. Margaret supported her daughter by teaching school in several villages, finally settling in Fardew, where she met Andrew and they fell in love. But he was not an invalid wife and Margaret refused to let him leave her. Nora at 17 fell in love with Dane Bernick. Come again a lovely picture. Dane's auto runs out of gas, leaving him and Nora stranded in the woods all night. They tell their love. Andrew's wife suddenly recovers her health.

NOW CONTINUE THE STORY

By ELENORE MEHERIN

ANDREW did not leave Fardew that Saturday. He thought of Lily Cornish—the things she had done with his life; the things she was still capable of doing.

He went to the office and found her waiting for him. "What are you doing here?" he asked. "I'm waiting for you," she said. "What for?" "For you to tell me what you intend to do."

He looked at her. "I don't know," he said. "I'm waiting for you to tell me what you intend to do."

The White Stairway of Romance

He would not meet it again.

Andrew's plan was clear. Lily, his wife, would never leave him. It was only one thing he might leave of Margaret and, knowing of her, would make her a torment.

He meant to ask Margaret to go away with him to leave in a day. He took Nora and came.

At 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Andrew drove past the grand corner of Fardew, where the shibboleth house sat back among the maples.

He drove slowly, watching the blue shimmer of the ocean. Figures graceful and tall caught his glance. A man and a girl climbing the white stairway that went the length of romance through an ancient grove.

The girl was slim and dark; the boy was brown and tall. He heard down suddenly, wedding her hand and whispering. They looked in each other's eyes and laughed. They loved. Youth, radiant and sparkling, streamed about them like a river.

Andrew watched with a tightened heart. Nora Lee and Dane. How the young girl had grown with a young, wild beauty in her face. And that brown, merry lad with the first tender eyes like himself in the way that were done. She, Andrew saw brown and radiant with the youth peering back through his white curls eighteen years ago.

Vanished, gone—lost, defrauded years! And the dear, arched sweetness of youth when it is lost, now, unaccounted joy, pined so dearly when it is gone.
